

“Besides being good for your farm, environment issues are high on the minds of consumers.”

Mark Bedoritis, Grain Farmer,
Leduc County

Building a Resilient Industry, One Farm at a Time

Change doesn't happen overnight. The Alberta EFP Program gives producers a practical, individual-driven way to plan for environmental stewardship at the pace that fits their operation.

The EFP is a free, whole-farm self-assessment that helps identify environmental risks and opportunities. It helps producers build awareness, support on-farm improvements, and open doors to market opportunities across Alberta. Together, we're building stronger farms and a stronger agricultural future for Alberta.

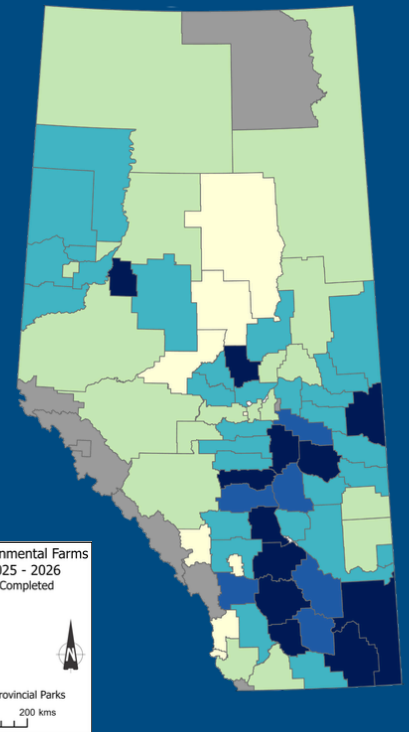

AN EFP IS...

-  Confidential
-  Supports on farm economic efficiency

-  Supported one-on-one by a trained EFP technician
-  Valid for 10 years with an easy renewal process

Guided by the EFP Stakeholder Advisory Committee

“Completed the EFP years ago and the update was very convenient. Simply allows producers to reflect on how they are doing things and work towards a better future.”

Douglas Piper, Grain Farmer, County of Forty Mile

Technician Support

EFP Technicians are the key to the success of the EFP Program in Alberta - Partnerships with municipal staff, research & extension associations, and watershed groups to provide one-on-one support for producers completing their EFP.
